336	15som	Same bird
337	25som	Same bird
338	50som	Same bird

The following is both an Update/Corrections listing as well as a further listing of this same bird species not previously listed. The first time this particular listing was in the Journal was when it was written up by Randall Shore, in V54(2), page 75. When he listed the first issuance of this species, he did not have Scott numbers as part of the listing. He also listed the bird species as a Gyrfalcon, Falco rusticolus. I followed up with relisting it when I took over the authorship of Ornithology in V55(4), page 187, but listing the Scott numbers that they gave the two stamps, which were #'s 243 (1s value) and 242 (50t value), and relisted it as the same species that Randall Shore listed.

Subsequent stamps were issued of this same stamp, but not listed in following quarterly Journals. In addition to the updating listing below, the bird should be listed as a Saker Falcon, Falco cherrug. This is what the identification is as listed on Kjell Scharning's birdtheme.org website. This update is listed in the dates that they were issued by Kyrgyzstan, according to Scott Publishing Company.

243	1s	12/28/04	Printed in brown (Bird is facing left on the stamp)
242	50t	2/12/05	Printed in blue (Bird is facing left on the stamp)
241	10t	6/16/05	Printed in green (Bird is facing left on the stamp)
271	60t	9/14/05	Printed in violet (Bird is facing left on the stamp)
282	50t	4/15/06	Printed in Prus blue (Bird is facing right on the stamp)
283	1s	5/6/06	Printed in car lake? (Bird is facing right on the stamp)
284	3s	8/5/06	Printed in black (Bird is facing right on the stamp)

 The listings with the two asterisks are the stamps not previously listed in the Journal.

In addition, Sc#271, 282 and 284 exists as imperforate. The value for Sc#271 is $4.50 and $5.00 for Sc#282 and 284.

MALAYSIA2009, JAN. 21*A

Three bird stamps and a SS, called Unique Birds of Malaysia; Des. The Yew Kiang; Offset by Percetakan Keselamatan.

1232	30sen	Malayan Peacock-Pheasant, Polyplectron malacense
1233	50sen	Milky Stork, Mycteria cinerea

1235	$5	Plain-pouched Hornbill, Aceros subruficollis (SS)

The SS was withdrawn from sale two weeks after it was issued because the stamp on the sheet was missing the country name and year. This error occurred when last minute changes were made to the black plate to correct a spelling mistake in the birds scientific name to Aceros subruficollis. It was reported that an estimated 10,000 sheets with the error were sold before the error was made known and the sheets recalled. I was lucky enough to get one of the error sheets. A corrected overprinted sheet was placed on sale on April 10-16 at the 2009 China Stamp show.

Appeal for shells on stamps

I am a former biology teacher/administrator and a APS stamp dealer who winters on Sanibel Island off of Fort Myers, FL. On the island we have the Bailey Matthews Shell Museum that is the largest natural history museum dedicated solely to sea shells in the United States. Along with some of the museum employees and other volunteers, I am attempting to assist in building a shells on stamps collection to integrate with their sea shells to display for the public and more importantly to take into classrooms and introduce both stamp collecting as well as shell collecting to Florida school children. We hope to integrate this into the State of Florida educational standards and benchmarks by creating lesson plans and assessment tools for teachers. I have talked with Vera Felts from the ATA and will be in contact with personnel from APS also. We will of course be seeking donations of shells on stamps from collectors. Fortunately we can use single items as well as sets so anything will be appreciated. What I am wondering is if we ask your organization to use our article and perhaps have you send it out to your membership.

Any assistance or suggestions you may have in regard to this project would be appreciated.
